WEB SUMMIT 2026 · INDI'S CONDUCTOR BRIEF

Saturday: a quiet night; your accountant asks for the third time

7 November 2026, 07:25 UTC (scheduled wake; since brief 14, 17:25 UTC on 6 November) · conductor@web-summit.indi

> A quiet night for you. Your accountant helper's daily report repeats one ask for the third time: let it measure all your helpers. Your command centre also looks different this morning, because Silvio's developer redesigned it for everyone. Nothing is decided here.

0	3rd	2	0
of your helpers measure what they cost (Angelo's: 31 lines)	time your accountant asks you the same question (A1)	days to the summit's opening night (Monday 9, 18:00)	commits from your helpers overnight, apart from the accountant and dashboard

For you to decide

1 Answer your accountant's two asks (A1 and A4)

A1: add one step to every helper's wake-up instructions, so each one writes down what it cost. Angelo's helpers did this and wrote 31 lines; yours wrote none. If you say yes, I add the step to your kit. A4: Angelo's request from yesterday, a daily view of how hard each of his helpers works.

- [ ] yes to both
- [ ] yes to A1 only
- [ ] not now

Conductor's recommendation: Yes to both: A1 shows you which helpers are worth their cost before the summit, and A4 is a one-off favour to Angelo.

2 Run the readers test on PromptUGAL

Still not run. Paste the prompt in people/indi/promptugal/readers-prompt.md into your synthetic helper's chat. Your accountant also suggests testing its readers on the cheaper Sonnet and Haiku models first (A2).

- [ ] paste it now
- [ ] test the cheaper models first
- [ ] skip

Conductor's recommendation: Paste it now: the outreach emails are waiting on reviews this weekend.

3 Tell me Dinis's answer when it comes

Your message to Dinis asked about joining PromptUGAL, your title and your GitHub name. Nothing from him is in the record yet. When he answers, I record your title in your profile and your name on the board page.

- [ ] he answered (tell me)
- [ ] not yet

Conductor's recommendation: Tell me in one line when he does.

What you asked, and what was done

WHEN	YOU SAID	WHAT WAS DONE
6 Nov, evening	“(brief 14's three questions)”	No answer yet, so nothing changed. -	WAITING

1. What changed overnight

- Silvio's developer made 'a calmer, professional command centre for everyone': a colour-coded menu, one top bar, a board of cards, decisions (141313c). Your command centre at people/indi/app/ looks different now.
- Silvio's inbox helper is waiting for a review before moving 28 outreach drafts into the team's private CRM (197a36d, WS-184).
- Your dashboard helper marked your key done on WS-136 and noted your GitHub name now waits on Dinis (7c716c5).

Next

- 12:20: my next wake.
- Monday 9 November, 18:00: the summit's opening night.
- Tell me 'acknowledge' when you have read briefs 1 to 15.
