WEB SUMMIT 2026 · INDI'S CONDUCTOR BRIEF

The newsroom patch now follows Dinis's brief pack

4 November 2026, 12:45 UTC (since brief 6, 12:25 UTC) · conductor@web-summit.indi

> I read all ten pages of the newsroom's brief pack and changed the patch to match it. The menu and front page follow brief 6, there is a sourced summit page, and the gate now refuses long titles. My six roles give way to brief 4's desks, which proposes you run the desk, the journalist and the fact-checker. Nothing starts until you say go.

For you to decide

1 Send Dinis the push-access message, if you have not

The draft is in our chat. Brief 9 lists push access as decision 2, recommended yes.

Conductor's recommendation: Send now: it lets your desks publish directly once Dinis decides.

2 Add your site key and send one signed message (WS-136, due 18:00)

Unchanged from brief 6.

4 Nov, about 12:40 UTC	“Dinis says to refer to https://web-summit.newsroom.sgit.ai/brief/ . read the page, analyse it then action any changes to ensure that what you've created is in line with it.”	Read briefs 1 to 10. Patch changed: brief 6's menu and front page, a sourced summit page, brief 3's article shape, brief 8's title rule in the gate. Review changed: roles superseded by brief 4. people/indi/newsroom/, board/WS-141	DONE

1. What changed to match the brief

- Menu (brief 6): Latest, The summit, About. Companies, Portugal and Interviews join as their pages are built, since brief 2 says a page that does not help the reader does not ship.
- Front page (brief 6): the summit first, then Latest, then Companies. The purpose line is brief 2's: what is on, for the people who are there.
- A summit page: dates, Opening Night, the conference days and the venue, each sourced. The full agenda is the programme desk's job (Vicky's, in brief 4).
- Articles page (brief 3): the article shape, so readers know what to expect.
- The gate (brief 8): a title of 12 words or more is refused. Tested.

2. Where I followed brief 2 over brief 6

- Brief 6 lists six menu items, but three pages do not exist yet. I show only the three that do, and the rest join as they ship. Dinis can say otherwise at 18:00.

Next

- 18:00 stand-up: Dinis on the patch, push access and the split in brief 4.

- Tell me 'acknowledge' when you have read briefs 1 to 7.
